ABSTACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

When printing output data that become output objects, copyright data attached to the corresponding said output data or information on copyright managed by 5   a copyright managing device are selectively used to execute a print processing of said output data.

This allows the output process to be executed based on the copyright information best suited for the corresponding output data.